BABY SAFE HAVEN

Did you know that Corpus Christi is a Baby Safe Haven? A parent or agent of a parent can leave an unwanted, unharmed newborn baby at a designated Baby Safe Haven without fear of prosecution or answering any questions. They can remain anonymous. A baby can be left at the Parish Office during normal office hours. After hours, take the baby to the nearest fire station or hospital.

Marian Dogmas & Doctrine — Part 4: The Assumption

Jen Arnold, M.A. in Theology and Catechetics — www.CatholicHeartAblaze.com

We have now reached the fourth Marian Dogma as defined and taught by the Magisterium of the Catholic Church — the Assumption of Mary. In a sense, the Assumption is the natural culmination of the previous three dogmas. If you accept, as the Church teaches, that Mary is the Mother of God, that her virginal purity and integrity were kept intact, and that she is the Immaculate Conception, the dogma on the Assumption is nothing less than fitting.

On November 1, 1950, Pope Pius XII proclaimed the fourth Marian dogma in his document Munificentissimus Deus. In this document, Pope Pius says, “We pronounce, declare, and define it to be a divinely revealed dogma that the Immaculate Mother of God, the ever-virgin Mary, having completed the course of her earthly life, was assumed, body and soul, into heavenly glory.” In other words, Mary is currently enjoying her bodily resurrection in heaven with Jesus, which is what we all look forward to one day. As with the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, Pope Pius refers to Genesis 3:15 as part of the foundation for the Assumption. In Genesis, Satan and his seed are put in direct opposition to the woman and her seed. Again, if Satan brings about sin and death, then to be in direct opposition to that necessarily means no sin and no death. Mary and Jesus must triumph over death.

Remember last week when we discussed how Genesis 3:15 and Luke 1:28 are good scriptural foundations for the Immaculate Conception? Mary remained free from the stain of original sin and its effects by virtue of the Immaculate Conception. She maintained the preternatural gifts given to Adam and Eve, which they had lost for all future generations. The preternatural gifts are infused knowledge of God and the divine mysteries; absence of concupiscence through a balance of passions, intellect, and will; and bodily immortality free from corruption. When God created mankind, he did not intend for our bodies to suffer corruption. Since Mary was born without original sin, she retained the gift of bodily immortality from her conception. Therefore, it logically follows that her body would have been assumed and glorified in heaven, where it exists to this day. It is the only acceptable and natural conclusion to the dogma of the Immaculate Conception.

There are other places in Scripture where we can find additional clues to Mary's bodily Assumption into heaven. Psalm 132:8 says, “Arise, Oh Lord, to your resting place. You and the Ark which you have sanctified.” The first sentence in that statement foreshadows the ascension of Jesus Christ. The second sentence of the verse refers to the Ark in which he was carried, which was Mary, His mother. Mary physically followed Jesus to their final resting place in heaven. There is a distinction to be made here: Jesus ascends by His own power, whereas Mary's Assumption is passive and a privilege she receives from God, proper to her other gifts. God is still God, and Mary is not in control of her assumption, which is yet another indication of how what happens to her points to and glorifies her Son and not herself.

We also have Revelation 11:19, where we see the Ark of the Covenant in the heavenly Jerusalem. This vision of the Ark is immediately followed by Revelation 12:1, which reads, “And a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a crown of twelve stars.” These two verses, in immediate succession, suggest a connection between the Ark and the woman, representing Mary, who carried God within her and therefore merited her place in heaven. Some argue that the “woman” of Revelation represents the Church or Israel and not Mary, but the Catholic understanding is that Scripture can have different levels of meaning, and all can be true. The woman is Mary in the literal sense and represents the Church or Israel in the symbolic sense.

Elsewhere in Scripture, we have other examples of bodily “assumptions,” proving that this is not the first time God has offered this privilege. Both Enoch (cf. Gen 5:24) and Elijah (II Kings 2:11) were described as being taken up into heaven. Similarly, in Revelation 11:3-13, two witnesses are killed by the beast, and after three and a half days, the breath of God enters them, and they are called up to heaven. If God had done this for others, why wouldn't he have done the same for the mother of his Son, who is even more worthy?

We have one other insight into Mary's Assumption, and although it is not explicitly stated, it is not a far stretch to imagine. Since Jesus was perfect, as a faithful Jewish man, he would have perfectly followed God's law. Therefore, Jesus would have followed the Fourth Commandment to "Honor thy father and mother." He had already sanctified her womb and body by dwelling in it, and she had been present for his passion and crucifixion, standing at the foot of his cross when he died. What better way could he honor her than by not allowing her body to suffer corruption but, rather, glorifying her body with his in heaven?

Of course, as always, we should also look to early Christianity, or Tradition, for their understanding of what happened to Mary after her earthly life was over.

The Apostles took up her body on a bier and placed it in a tomb, and they guarded it, expecting the Lord to come. And behold, again the Lord stood by them; and the holy body having been received, He commanded that it be taken in a cloud into paradise: where now, rejoined to the soul, she rejoices with the Lord's chosen ones. - Gregory of Tours, Book of Miracles, 1:4 (d. 593 AD)

You are she who, as it is written, appears in beauty, and your virginal body is all holy, all chaste, entirely the dwelling place of God, so that it is henceforth completely exempt from dissolution into dust. Though still human, it is changed into the heavenly life of incorruptibility, truly living and glorious, undamaged and sharing in perfect life. - St. Germanus of Constantinople, In Sanctae Dei Genetricis Dormitionem, Sermon I. (d. 730 AD)

Your stainless and wholly immaculate body has not been left on earth; the Queen, the Mistress, the Mother of God who has truly given birth to God has been translated to the royal palaces of heaven. - St. John Damascene in a homily (d. 749 AD)

We know that Mary's body was assumed into heaven because it was fitting, given what is true about her and what is true about her Son. We can't be certain whether Mary died before being assumed into heaven. There are two primary theories on this issue — mortalists and immortalists — and it is left to each of us as individuals to decide, as the Church does not officially say either way. The mortalists hold that Mary died and experienced a temporary separation of body and soul, as Jesus did, in discipleship of him. To be clear, she would not have died by disease or corruption of the body due to her immaculate conception; rather, she would have died peacefully. After a short period, her soul was reunited with her body in heaven. The immortalist position holds that Mary did not die, but at an appointed time, she was assumed by God into heaven, body and soul at the same time. The answer to this question is not imperative to believe in the dogma since she was assumed either way. Most Catholic theologians hold the mortalist theory. However, you are free to contemplate the question and conclude what might have happened. The answer awaits you in heaven!

One of the great things that the Assumption of Mary does for us is to illustrate what the future holds when our bodies and souls are reunited. After the second coming of Jesus, all our bodies will be resurrected and re-united with our souls. This week, contemplate what heaven might be like in your soul only, and then contemplate what it might be like when your body returns with all your senses. Think about how Mary is enjoying that reality now through the privilege her Son has given to her because of her perfection and sanctification, which came about through him. Remember, everything about Mary reflects the glory of her Son, our Lord Jesus Christ.

OFFERTORY HYMN

Jesus, My Everything

by Matt Maher

I've been looking for a reason,
I've been longing for a purpose,
I'm losing all my meaning,
I've run out of excuses.
Lord, it's hard to know you,
I don't always see your plan.
But holiness is calling me
so take me as I am.

Refrain

*'Cause you are my everything,
you are the song I sing;
I'll do anything for you.
Teach me how to pray,
to live a life of grace;
I'll go anywhere with you.
Jesus, be my everything.*

Lord, I get so tired of the struggle within.
I settle in complacency
and I'm weighed down in my sin.
So lead me past emotion,
'cause they change with the wind.
I want to be a true disciple;
to daily choose your hand.

Refrain
